WHY DON'T YOU... BY VICTORIA LUCIA

"A hot chick
and football:
Life is good."

...wear
his logo.

Even if football is a big fat BLAH to you, it's probably quasi-religion to your crush. So if you're heading to a Super Bowl shindig he'll be attending, fake excitement...and look smokin' doing so. "Wear his team's logo," suggests Paula Duffy, creator of A Woman's Guide to Football. "A serious sports fan will love that you're making an effort." Distract him from a power play with this tip from our fashion department: Buy a kids' size team tee shirt—it'll show off your curves.
